

ALL ERIN MOURNS AS COLLINS'S BODY IS LAID AT REST

Fellow Officers, Dail Members and Civic Authorities Do Homage.

DUBLIN, Aug. 28 (Associated Press).—Michael Collins was laid to rest today in Glasnevin after a demonstration of national grief such as has been seldom seen in the long centuries of Ireland's troubled history.

Arthur Griffith was buried with all the honor due a great leader; Collins went to the grave amid the tears of a nation that worshipped him personally as a gallant young patriot in whom was combined all those traits which Irishmen hold dear.

Good humor, the power of oratory and a laughing disregard for death—all were his; and while immense throngs filled the great Cathedral and lined the route to Glasnevin, congregations gathered in every city, town and hamlet throughout the land to mourn his passing.

It was a military funeral. Fellow officers last night had borne the body into the Cathedral, just as Collins, a short fortnight ago, helped bear the body of his colleague Griffith. They had stood guard all night and were there this morning when the solemn requiem high mass was celebrated before a multitude which overflowed the edifice into the streets.

Richard Mulcahy, the new chieftain to whom all Ireland now looks; Gen. O'Duffy, new Chief of Staff, and Gen. McKenna, the "blacksmith of Ballinacorney" whose dash and fire have awakened enthusiasm akin to that won by Collins himself, were among them.

Sister Mary Celestine came from her convent in England to pray for her "baby brother." Beside her knelt Sean Collins, the General's brother. But it was upon the trembling young woman nearly that the eyes of all fell most pityingly—Miss Kieran, Collins's betrothed.

On the Gospel side of the nave sat the members of the Cabinet, the Dail Eireann, civil servants and members of the provincial corporations. On the epistle side were the English representatives and members of the Consular Corps, including the American Consul General of Dublin, distinguished members of society and learned societies and representatives of various public bodies.

Outside, lining the miles of Dublin streets through which the funeral cortege later passed, thousands took part spiritually in the solemn mass of requiem, many kneeling in prayer on the pavement at the fabled moment of the elevation of the sacred host.

Archbishop Byrne, head of the Dublin Diocese, was the celebrant, and just as they had chanted for Griffith, Dublin's renowned choir of priests sang

REPORT DE VALERA ILL OF WOUNDS

Irish Leader Said to Be Convalescent.

CORK, Aug. 28 (Associated Press).—Eamon De Valera is convalescent from wounds in a house near Bandon, according to what is considered authentic information. He was recuperating in a house at Bealnahabla, a few miles from Macroom, the scene of the Collins ambush, but later shifted his quarters.

The selections during the mass, without organ accompaniment.

Then, after absolution, the body was borne from the church and placed on the gun carriage, and as it passed along the route to Glasnevin many knelt in homage. The crowds packed every street along the way; they filled every window.

The cortege was imposing. First came an advance guard of National Army cavalry, then several hundred clerics, a firing party of Dublin guards, and then the gun carriage with the body, surrounded by its guard of honor.

Following came the Cabinet members and the General Headquarters Staff, with the chief mourners riding in carriages. Then the members of the Dail, walking slowly, followed by the Lord Mayor and the members of the Dublin Corporation.

Next a pipers' band, playing a dirge as they marched, and numerous delegations representing all Irish activities and organizations. These included Cork men and women now making their home in Dublin, Irishmen from London and other places in England, the O'Connell Pipe and Drum Band, Sinn Fein, the Gaelic League, trade and labor bodies, the Cumann Na Saoirse and other women's organizations, the National Civil Servants, the Dublin Fire Brigade and a great multitude of citizens who fell in at the rear and walked to the cemetery to pay their final tribute.

The body was buried in the plot of ground reserved for those who have fallen in the cause of the Irish Free State in the existing war of rebellion.

BELFAST, Aug. 28.—An excursion to Buncrana, in Northern Donegal, of the Emerald Isle Harps Gaelic Club of Derry, was cancelled yesterday when, with thousands of the excursionists assembled and their special trains waiting, the Free State authorities in Buncrana declined to allow the trains through, as the town was in mourning for Michael Collins.

FARMERS PROTECT ELDERBERRY PATCHES

Ready With Sawn Off Shot Guns to Meet Raiders From City.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 28.—Elderberry wine will be scarce this year. Farmers near Geneva, it was learned today, are guarding their patches with sawn-off shotguns.

Moses Smith, whose place is near that city, is doubly vigilant, for last year smart city folk left only the branches as they raided his ripe berries when he failed to maintain a lookout.

LONG ISLAND R. R. TIED UP FOR HOURS

Three Freight Cars Jump Tracks and Confusion Results.

For more than six hours this morning the passenger system of the Long Island Railroad west of the Jamaica station was tied up because three freight cars had left the track and blocked all lines except a local one.

Service on all the branches running into the Jamaica station was held up, the majority of the trains averaging an hour late. After two hours one track was used in getting the several scores of commuters' trains into the station.

The accident occurred at 3:10 A. M. and it was not until after ten o'clock that three of the tracks were opened. This relieved the congestion and trains started to run on about their normal schedule.

The freight cars were loaded with the equipment of the 10th Field Artillery, which had been in camp at Montauk, L. I. There were twenty-two cars to the train. As it reached the "J" tower, just west of the Jamaica Station, the brake rigging of the third car from the engine dropped. This caused this car and the two following cars to leave the track and overturn. For a distance of about fifty feet the rails were torn up.

THEATRE MANAGER AND DIVORCED WIFE FIGHT FOR CHILD

Mrs. Dillon Says Weber Is Not Proper Person to Have Boy.

The court battle on a habeas corpus proceeding between L. Lawrence Weber, manager of the Longacre Theatre, and his divorced wife, Edith Hallor Dillon, to obtain the custody of their infant child, L. Lawrence Weber Jr., was continued before Justice Burr in Supreme Court today.

Mrs. Dillon kidnapper the child in Central Park on August 10, it is charged, and pending Justice Burr's decision as to the proper custody of the youngster he has been placed in the care of Supreme Court Justice L. J. Marcus of Buffalo, who is a present living with Weber in the Dakota Apartment.

Counsel for Mrs. Dillon claimed it would be for the best interest of the child if he was given to the mother permanently, as he alleged Weber drank excessively and that the home surroundings in the Weber apartment were not proper for a child of tender years. He contended that Weber had agreed to give his wife custody of the child if she would not defend his Eire County divorce suit when he named Jack Dillon, motion picture director, as respondent.

A written agreement was produced whereby Weber and Mrs. Dillon consented to let each other have the child for six months of the year. This was last January and Weber's half-year period expired on July 19. It was said, however, that in the interim he abrogated the agreement and refused to give his former wife the boy. The Central Park kidnapping resulted.

Weber is represented by former Senator Edgar T. Blackette.

Weber admitted under cross-examination that Edith K. Hallor had paid him for $250,000 in the Supreme Court here in 1918 for alleged breach of promise, but that this suit subsequently was discontinued following her marriage and the birth of their child. He also admitted having twice divorced Lettie Meredith, who he said, was his common-law wife. He secured his divorce from the present Mrs. Dillon in September, 1920.

PRESIDENT'S VETO CAN KILL BONUS BILL, POLL SHOWS

Strength in Senate Not Enough to Pass It After White House Rejection.

(Copyright 1922 by United Press Assoc.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The Bonus Bill can be killed at this session of Congress by a Presidential veto, a poll of the Senate today showed.

Thirty-four Senators will vote against the measure and three more now lined up for it will change their positions and vote to sustain an Executive veto. This combined group of 37 Senators is four more than is necessary to prevent the overriding of a veto by the required two-thirds majority even if all Senators were voting.

The vote on the bill, which may be taken to-morrow, will be 57 to 34, according to the poll. This figure may be changed by absence from the city of some Senators.

At least five Senators are expected to be absent.

The poll shows a peculiar break up of party lines. It reveals that thirty-four Republicans and twenty-three Democrats are lined up for the measure and twenty-three Republicans and eleven Democrats are against it.

Should the bill come back to the Senate with a veto attached, Senators Brandegee, McLean and Page, who are scheduled to vote for the measure to-morrow, will vote to sustain the veto.

The line-up—unless certain Senators change their minds at the last minute—is expected to be as follows:

For the Bonus: St. Ashurst, Brandegee, Hargess, Hiram, Cameron, Capper, Culberson, Cummins, Curtis, Elkins, Fletcher, Gerry, Gooding, Hale, Harrell, Harrison, Hefflin, Hitchcock, Johnson, Jones, New Mexico; Jones, Washington; Kellogg, Kendrick, Keyes, La Follette, Lenroot, Lodge, McCormick, McCumber, McKellar, McLean, McNary, Nicholson, Norbeck, Norris, Odell, Overman, Owen, Page, Pittman, Poindexter, Randall, Rawson, Reed, Missouri; Robinson, Sheppard, Shortridge, Simmons, Stanfield, Stanley, Sutherland, Townsend, Trammell, Walsh, Massachusetts; Walsh, Montana; Watson, Indiana; Willis.

Against the Bonus: St. Hall, Borah, Calder, Colt, Dial, Dillingham, Dyer, Egan, Ernst, Fernald, France, Frelinghuysen, Glass, King, Moses, Myers, Nelson, New, Newberry, Pepper, Phillips, Pomerene, Reed, Pa.; Shields, Smith, Smoot, Sterling, Swanson, Underwood, Wadsworth, Warren, Watson, Ga.; Weller, Williams.

Absent—Caraway, Harris, Ladd, McKinley and Spencer.
